

Benefits of being a Member or Member Contributor of the Foundation for Veterinary Dentistry

As a subscriber to the Journal of Veterinary Dentistry (JOVD) you are also supporting the Foundation for Veterinary Dentistry (FVD). Your support helps to provide the following member benefits:

- Assist in the education of the public of the importance of oral health in animals and the importance of veterinary dentistry to overall animal health and wellness, and to thus strengthen the human animal bond
- Advance the science of Veterinary Dentistry via research grants and scientific publications
- Support Veterinary Dentistry education for Veterinarians, Veterinary Technicians, Veterinary Nurses and Veterinary Students, along with other dental professionals who have an interest in veterinary dentistry
- Support like-minded colleagues in the development of localized support programs for these groups
- Support the enrollment of veterinary students in the subsidized Veterinary Dental Education Online program conducted by the University of Illinois
- Assist in the growth and development of Student Chapters of the FVD
- Assist in the funding of equipment and Continuing Education for the Make Me Smile Program's mission to provide dentally-healthy adoptable pets in animal shelters
- Allows for you to join in group discussions on FVD social media; receive news updates through the FVD website and FVD e-newsletters, along with links to JOVD Podcasts
- Helping to financially support the yearly wet labs at each year's SAVMA (Student AVMA) Symposium
- Receive a discount to purchase FVD Continuing Education publications including the Step by Step Compendium Volumes 1 and 2 and the Foundations Compendium
- You can learn about job opportunities, residency program offerings, new textbook reviews and continuing international education events
- Journal subscribers receive online access to previous and current Journal issues.
- All members are invited to an open Foundation Meeting at the annual Veterinary Dental Forum
- Contributors at Gold and Titanium levels receive recognition on a banner at the annual Dental Forum
- Enjoy the camaraderie of belonging to the largest international group of individuals with an interest in Veterinary Dentistry
